What Considerations Should I Be Thinking About?

When exploring career options as an 11th or 12th grader, integrating thoughtful consideration of personal interests, skills, and market trends is essential. Using platforms like Upptik alongside resources like O*NET enhances this exploration effectively:

1. Interests and Passions

- Reflect on your interests through activities you enjoy. Upptik provides links to O*NET interest surveys, helping you pinpoint careers that align with your passions.

2. Skill Set

- Assess your skills through Upptik's courses and resources. Identifying your strengths can direct you toward careers that make the most of your abilities.

3. Educational Requirements

- Understand the necessary education or training for different careers. Upptik offers insights, and O*NET provides detailed information on required degrees or certifications.

4. Long-Term Career Prospects

- Investigate future job trends to ensure the viability of your chosen field. Utilize O*NET for comprehensive data on job forecasts and industry growth.

5. Work Environment and Lifestyle

- Consider the typical work environments and work-life balance of potential careers. Upptik's "Day in the Life" videos offer a realistic view of daily activities in various professions.

6. Salary and Advancement Opportunities

- Research potential earnings and career progression using Upptik's detailed career descriptions. Understanding the financial and promotional aspects can guide your decision.

7. Values and Impact

- Align your career choice with your values and the impact you wish to make, supported by mentorship and discussions on Upptik.

8. Geographical Considerations

- Some careers are region-specific. Use O*NET to determine which regions favor certain industries.

9. Networking and Mentorship

- Utilize Upptik for networking through webinars and connecting with near-peer mentors. Engaging with professionals and mentors can provide invaluable insights and guidance.

Leveraging these tools and considerations with resources like Upptik and O*NET allows you to make a well-informed decision about your career path, ensuring it aligns with both your professional goals and personal values.