CARING FOR THE SHORELINE

Lawrence + Memorial Hospital, located in New London, CT, is part of Yale New Haven Health and serves southeastern Connecticut and parts of Rhode Island. It offers full medical services, from emergency care and surgery to cancer treatment and rehabilitation. If you're interested in helping people, this hospital is a gateway into healthcare careers with real impact.

BENEFITS THAT SUPPORT YOU BACK

Employees receive comprehensive health coverage, retirement plans, paid time off, tuition reimbursement, and access to wellness programs. As part of a major health system, you also get opportunities to transfer or grow within Yale New Haven Health. The hospital culture is team-oriented and supportive—perfect for students starting out.

TRAIN, WORK, ADVANCE

Lawrence + Memorial offers internships, entry-level positions, and paid training in areas like nursing assistance, transport, food service, and administration. Many employees begin in support roles and build careers in medical tech, nursing, or operations through the hospital's growth pathways and education partnerships.

HEALING CLOSE TO HOME

Whether you're helping patients recover from surgery or keeping the hospital running behind the scenes, your work helps neighbors get the care they need. It's a meaningful place to work—especially if you value community, compassion, and teamwork in a real-world setting.
